Subj: Class Deviation for FAR Part 7 in Support of Executive Order on Restoring Common Sense to Federal Procurement (VIEWS 13816816)

To: Heads of the Contracting Activities

1. Purpose. Deviate from Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR) part 7 for purposes of implementing the Federal Regulatory Council's (the Council's) model deviation text to FAR part 7.

2. Background. Executive Order \(E.O.\) 14275, Restoring Common Sense to Federal Procurement, signed April 15, 2025, mandates a comprehensive review and simplification of the FAR.

The FAR is being updated to:

- Eliminate non-statutory language
- Remove redundant or obsolete language
- Enhance clarity through plain language
- Align with the new FAR framework
- Preserve essential Governmentwide acquisition standards

This project is referred to as the Revolutionary FAR Overhaul (RFO) initiative. This initiative will make the FAR more concise, understandable, and focused on core procurement requirements.

3. Summary of Changes. FAR part 7, concerning Acquisition Planning, is streamlined to emphasize flexibility and move away from prescriptive checklists in favor of a dynamic planning process.

The deviation recognizes the distinctions between task and delivery orders and award of new contracts, requiring appropriate acquisition planning for each. The placing of task and delivery orders is a faster and more streamlined process with significantly less pre-award actions required than in awarding new contracts. The level of detail should vary with the size and complexity of the acquisition.

The deviation to part 7 also picks up on requirements previously found in FAR part 10 to ensure small business concerns are appropriately considered. Requirements for bundling, substantial bundling, and consolidation are unified to ensure common consideration of any potential negative impact on small business.

Subj.: Class Deviation for FAR Part 7 in Support of Executive Order on Restoring Common Sense to Federal Procurement (VIEWS 13816816)

While there is no longer a requirement for acquisition plans with specific elements, there should still be forethought in what is being procured. Having a plan is key to ensuring the guiding principles of the acquisition system are met. By emphasizing early engagement, this change creates more opportunities to foster innovation and achieve successful results, reflecting a shift toward a more agile and strategic approach.

Statutory requirements and executive requirements retained in the RFO FAR part 7 model deviation include, but may not be limited to, the following:

- 41 U.S.C. §§ 3301 et seq, Planning and Solicitation
- 15 U.S.C. § 657q, Consolidation of Contract Requirements
- 15 U.S.C. § 644, Awards or Contracts
- P.L. 115-254, Sec 555, Cost-Effectiveness Analysis of Equipment Rental
- OFPP Policy Letter 11-01, Performance of Inherently Governmental and Critical Functions

Change	Description
New, Retained, Or Updated	Updated: In section 7.000, “Scope of Part,” paragraph (a) is revised from "Developing acquisition plans" to "Acquisition planning and developing acquisition plans." This broadens the scope to encompass the entire planning process, not just the act of creating a document. Retained: The definitions at 7.101, “Definitions,” are retained and most have been simplified to improve clarity. New: Section 7.102 is renamed “Requirements” and establishes the fundamental requirement for acquisition planning in all acquisitions. It mandates that agencies establish procedures for determining whether a written or oral plan is needed and lists high-level outcomes that planning must promote: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Acquisition of commercial products or services</li> <li>• Full and open competition</li> <li>• Selection of appropriate contract type</li> <li>• Use of existing contracts</li> </ul> Note - Although 7.102 gives agencies discretion in establishing procedures for written or oral plans, 7.102(d) retains the requirement to use a written plan for cost reimbursement and other high-risk contracts. Updated: Section 7.103, “Agency-head Responsibilities,” is updated from a long list of specific tasks to a list of high-level

	responsibilities, such as creating streamlined procedures for different acquisition types (e.g., orders, commercial products and services), establishing criteria for high-risk contracts, and ensuring small business opportunities are considered. Updated: Section 7.104, “General Procedures,” is updated to highlight that early planning can create opportunities to structure the procurement approach in a way that promotes competition and innovation. Practitioners should review the FAR Companion for best practices for innovative acquisition planning techniques. Updated: Section 7.107, “Additional Requirements for Acquisitions Involving Consolidation, Bundling, or Substantial Bundling,” is updated to streamline and standardize the analysis, determination, and notification requirements – there are no longer separate requirements for each, with the goal of ensuring this important step in the acquisition process is understood by the workforce. <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• 7.107-1(a) retains the requirement for market research before conducting an acquisition that consolidates or bundles requirements.</li></ul> Updated: Section 7.108, “Additional Requirements for Teleworking,” is updated to reflect modern terminology and simplified language. For example, the term “telecommuting” has been updated to “teleworking.” Updated: Section 7.403, formerly titled “General Services Administration Assistance and OMB Guidance,” has been retitled “OMB Guidance.” Paragraphs (a) and (b) of the former section, which described the types of assistance available from GSA, have been removed. The content of the former paragraph (c), which provides references to relevant OMB circulars, has been retained and updated with new hyperlinks. The removal of the GSA assistance information streamlines the text by deleting content that is informational rather than regulatory. The process agencies use to perform a lease-versus-purchase analysis remains intact in clause 52.207-5. Retained: Subpart 7.5, “Inherently Governmental Functions,” is retained and revised for clarity and readability, primarily through plain-language edits and structural reorganization. Retained: clauses and provisions, with no changes in text: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• 52.207-4 Economic Purchase Quantity—Supplies</li><li>• 52.207-5 Option To Purchase Equipment</li></ul>

4. Instructions.

- The VA acquisition workforce must follow the RFO part 7 model deviation text instead of FAR part 7 as codified at 48 C.F.R. Chapter 1. The Council’s RFO part 7 model deviation text is available at www.Acquisition.gov/far-overhaul and is incorporated into this class deviation.
- For new solicitations or contracts, when using any provisions or clauses that have been revised, utilize the RFO model deviation language at RFO FAR part 52.
- For open solicitations or awarded contracts, the contracting officer has discretion regarding the need to enforce or amend the provisions or clauses. Note that without some of the removed provisions or clauses, the contracting officer may be required to separately address certain aspects in the contract.

5.Applicability. All VA procurements.
